

Graduation Sermon 4 p.m. Here Sunday

The graduation sermon for the 1963 Hope High School Senior Class will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 26, at First Baptist Church.

The program follows:
Processional
"Grand March" ... Grieg, Mrs. C. Hyatt
Invocation ... Rev. Clyde H. Goddard, Pastor of First Christian Church
Scripture ... The Rev. Rufus F. Sorrells, Pastor of First Methodist Church
Prayer ... The Rev. Clyde Johnson, Pastor of Garrett Memorial Baptist Church
"Climb Every Mountain" ... Rodgers and Hammerstein Hope High School Chorus
Sermon:
"You're Never Young But Once" ... Doctor L. T. Lawrence, Pastor of First Presbyterian Church
Benediction ... The Rev. Clyde H. Goddard, Pastor of First Christian Church
Recessional
"Choral Song" ... Wesley, Mrs. C. Hyatt
(Congregation is asked to be seated)

Dam Roads Cancellation Stirs P.B.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The state Highway Commission has drawn fire from Pine Bluff Aldermen Emmett Sanders for its decision not to build roads over two proposed locks and dams on the Arkansas River in southeast Arkansas.

The decision was announced last week by commission chairman Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart, who said the $2.5 million cost of each highway would be prohibitive.

The highways would cross Rock and Dam 3 at Grady and Lock and Dam 4 south of Pine Bluff. Sanders told the Pine Bluff City Council he felt Pine Bluff and southeast Arkansas had been wronged and urged that residents of the two areas push for the roads.

He also urged that Little Rock be encouraged to join six south-east Arkansas communities in seeking an interstate highway at the present route of Highway 65. All of the communities—Pine Bluff, Grady, Grady, Dumas, McGehee and Lake Village—are on Highway 65.

NLR Plans a Special Census

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Glenn D. Douglas, North Little Rock City Engineer, said Monday he had been notified that a special federal census would begin June 3 in North Little Rock.

Douglas said he was notified by the Dallas office of the Census Bureau.

Percy B. Millard, regional field director of the Census Bureau at Dallas, said in a letter the census would take about 30 days and that about 65 persons would be hired to make it.

Purpose of the census is to increase the city's share of state turnback funds. Mayor William L. Laman said the city had 2,000 more people than in the 1960 census, when the city's population was 58,032.

The city council has appropriated $13,000 to pay for the census.

2 Hurt in Crash of Car, Truck

A 1962 Thunderbird driven by Phillip Matthew Schuch, 31, of Mesquite, Texas, ran under a 1958 Ford truck loaded with logs and driven by Henry Koonz, 61, Negro, of Fulton, around 6 o'clock this morning at Shepard on Highway 87 West.

Schuch was taken to a local hospital with lacerations of the head and possible fractures.

Injured in the Koonz truck was Willie Agee, 67, who sustained lacerations of the leg and neck injuries. Koonz was uninjured.

There was heavy damage to both vehicles. State Police Sgt. Guy Downing investigated the accident.

New Wheat Plan Soundly Defeated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas farmers gave the administration just the reverse of what it wanted on its wheat referendum.

Nearly 60 per cent of them voted against the measure, while only 34.1 per cent approved it.

Approval of 66.7 per cent of the farmers of Arkansas—and other participating states—was required for passage of the referendum.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), which tabulated the vote Tuesday night, said 3,637 farmers in 57 counties voted no in the referendum and 1,881 voted yes—a total of 5,518 votes.

About 11,000 Arkansas farmers were eligible to vote in the referendum.

Rex A. Owens of the ASCS said the agency had been skeptical about the outcome of the vote, but expected a much closer vote in Arkansas.

The Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation opposed the plan, which proposes for the 1964 crop tighter controls than at present and high price supports, against no controls and low supports.

Some Farm Bureau groups contended the plan would "open the gate for tighter controls of cotton, soybeans and cattle production."

Among supporters of the plan were the National Farmers Union, National Grange, National Farm Organization and National Wheat Growers Association.

Owens said 100,000 to 250,000 bushels of wheat are raised in Arkansas on 140,000 to 150,000 acres of land each year.

Astronaut Gordon Cooper Gets Fabled Ticker-Tape Greeting in N.Y. Canyons

NEW YORK (AP)—Millions of New Yorkers cheered astronaut Gordon Cooper today along Broadway in a tumultuous ticker-tape parade—the city's salute to national heroes.

A maelstrom of tape, confetti and torn paper swirled from skyscrapers in the city's tribute to the smiling Air Force major who last week orbited the earth 22 times.

Crowds jammed the sidewalks of the "Canyon of Heroes" and workers leaned from office windows, shouting their acclaim.

A crowd swarmed around Cooper's open car at the very start of the parade at Bowling Green to City Hall.

Even before the 20-car motorcade reached Bowling Green, the official starting point, the crowds along the streets were in a turmoil. Police had difficulty clearing the way.

NATO Lands Defy Nuclear Red Warning

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

OTTAWA (AP)—The 15 Atlantic allies defied Soviet warnings today and prepared to form an inter-allied nuclear strike force.

The nuclear force was the main business before the foreign and defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at their annual three-day spring meeting opening today in Canada's House of Commons.

The ministers were resolved to make the nuclear move without fuss or fanfare, as if it were a nation. The object was to get around the opposition of French President Charles de Gaulle to a specifically designated NATO nuclear force, which he views as a way of consolidating U.S. power in Europe. De Gaulle has made plain he wants France to lead the West European allies.

A delicately negotiated arrangement provides that the force will come into being by endorsement of certain decisions by NATO member countries.

These decisions include:

1. Assignment of three U.S. nuclear submarines armed with Polaris missiles to Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, the Supreme Allied Commander in Europe.
2. Allocation of Britain's 100-plane V-bomber force with hydrogen bombs to Lemnitzer.
3. Arrangements for the buildup of a nuclear planning and targeting staff under Lemnitzer.
4. Greater liaison between non-nuclear members of NATO and the U.S. Strategic Air Command at Omaha, Neb.

Other units that probably will be assigned include two French bomber squadrons assigned to NATO in West Germany. The United States is equipping them with nuclear weapons.

The Soviets blasted the nuclear force plan in a note to the United States Tuesday. They charged that by stationing the three U.S. Polaris submarines in the Mediterranean, "the NATO headquarters are working to convert the Mediterranean ... into a lair of carriers of nuclear death, another region of dangerous rivalry and conflicts."

The mixed-manned force, an American project, would consist of a fleet of surface ships, carrying about 200 Polaris rockets, collectively owned by the nations subscribing to it and manned by mixed crews of the various nationalities.

Most NATO allies still are cool to the mixed-manned force.

Pastor's Son to Preach Here Sunday

William T. Lawrence, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. T. Lawrence, has accepted an invitation to preach the sermon at the Morning Worship Service of the Presbyterian Church this coming Sunday.

Bill, as he is known to his friends, graduated from Austin College, Sherman, Texas a year ago. He entered Austin Theological Seminary at Austin, Texas last September and is just completing his first year at the Seminary.

Bill will leave May 31st for New Orleans. He will spend the summer working in the Oak Park Presbyterian Church of that city, assisting the pastor and serving as the Director of Christian Education.

Guide Line for Cooper Was Prayer

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—From a spacecraft flitting named Faith 7 came fresh evidence that American astronauts believe that something more than computers guides them through the skies.

It was a prayer offered by Maj. Gordon Cooper at the close of his eight-minute address to Congress Tuesday—a prayer he spoke into his tape recorder last week as he whizzed around the earth on his 16th orbit. His mother, sitting in the House gallery, bowed her head and covered her eyes, then wiped away the tears and smiled.

The astronauts do not like to talk about their religious beliefs. When asked, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will reply that religion is not listed on the records of the space-men.

Cooper himself is not a regular church-goer but he said recently he considers religion important "in all the things we do." As a youth he attended the Methodist church and his family, a space agency official said, belongs to a Methodist church in Seabrook, Tex.

At the first news conference of an American spaceman, Alan Shepard Jr. would only say of the astronauts' religious beliefs that: "I think that all seven of us have that religious faith which we express in our own individual ways. I think that is about all I care to comment."

But, since then, some of the astronauts have struggled over their hesitancy and revealed evidences of belief, sometimes strong belief, in God.

Perhaps Cooper's prayer was the most potent evidence, for it came in so public and significant a place. Here's the prayer he offered in his spacecraft, and repeated Tuesday: "Father, thank You, especially for letting me fly this flight."

"Thank You for the privilege of being able to be in this position; to be up in this wondrous place, seeing all these many startling wonderful things that You have created."

"Help guide and direct all of us that we may shape our lives to be much better Christians, trying to help one another, and to work with one another rather than fighting and bickering."

"Help us to complete this mission successfully."

"Help us in our future space endeavors that we may show the world that a democracy really can compete, and still be able to do things in a big way, and are able to do research, development and can conduct many scientific and very technical programs."

"Be with all our families. Give them guidance and encouragement, and let them know that everything will be okay."

"We ask in Thy name."

"Amen."

High Court Views Tangle With History

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court's decisions this week on sit-in demonstrations made one thing clear, left another up in the air, and may mean one of the justices disagrees with his ancestor.

The decisions have their roots far back in American history. Working up to them a step at a time, from the past to the present, makes them clearer.

After slavery was abolished by the 13th Amendment (1865), the 14th Amendment (1868) not only gave newly freed Negroes citizenship but assured them of equal treatment with whites.

Nevertheless, Southern states upon returning to the union began putting restrictions on Negroes. To offset this, Congress passed a number of civil rights laws. For instance, one that protected Negroes' voting rights.

The last one, passed in 1875, assured Negroes of the "free and equal enjoyment" of public transportation, inns, theaters and other places of amusement.

It seemed to mean there could be no discrimination against Negroes in a privately owned inn or theater.

But in 1883 the Supreme Court said Congress had gone too far and misunderstood the protections guaranteed by the 14th Amendment when it passed the Civil Rights Act of 1875. The court declared the act unconstitutional.

The court made its decision on five cases, only one of which came from the South. For example, two of them, one from San Francisco and one from New York, involved exclusion of Negroes from theaters.

Didn't the 14th Amendment say this couldn't be done? No, the court said. It said the 14th Amendment simply meant states could not pass laws, like a segregation law, to discriminate against Negroes.

It made clear the 14th Amendment didn't apply to what private businesses, like a theater, did on their own.

But one justice on the court at that time—John Marshall Harlan, Continued on page Two

25-Million-Dollar Atom Electric Power Plant Is Planned at Fayetteville

By WICK TEMPLE

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has established an evaluation board to consider a proposal by 16 power companies to build a $25 million atomic reactor project 17 miles southwest of Fayetteville.

And Arkansas Power & Light Co., one of the 16 sponsors, expects AEC approval of the project by June 28. Construction is scheduled to begin next summer and completion is expected late in 1966.

These announcements were made today in a news conference in Fayetteville by Reeves Ritchie, president of AP&L. It was the first word that the AEC had taken under consideration the proposal, which was announced by the power companies earlier this year.

The reactor will be part of a research project in which the power companies hope to develop a method of harnessing atomic energy for use in their electric systems. The reactor will generate no electricity during the three-year research program.

Under the proposal the AEC is studying the 16 companies would work with the Karlsruhe Laboratory of West Germany and General Electric Co. to build the reactor project and the AEC would provide funds for its operation.

Ritchie said the reactor is planned for northwest Arkansas because it is in the geographical center of the six-state area in which the companies operate and because it is near the University of Arkansas.

It will be the largest research facility ever to locate in Arkansas, Ritchie said. The normal operating staff during the research program will be 30 to 35. About 150 persons will be involved in construction. Half the operating personnel will come from the San Jose, Calif., headquarters of the Atomic Equipment Department of General Electric.

The project has been named Southwest Experimental Fast Oxide Reactor. The program will determine operating characteristics of a fast breeder reactor which would be used ultimately for power production.

Ritchie said this will be the first project in which a European country will provide major funds to be spent in the U.S. for development of atomic power.

The federal government turned over to Arkansas Tuesday the regulation of peaceful use of atomic energy within its borders. But it reserved to the Atomic Energy Commission regulation of major atomic projects such as the Fayetteville reactor.

Arkansas now is one of six states which has assumed regulation of joining radiation.

Ritchie said the Fayetteville reactor will be of "more than national significance." The oxides of plutonium and uranium to be used as fuel in the program may be seven or eight times as efficient as any atomic fuels developed so far.

"This could be one of the most significant contributions made to date to the development of power reactors," Ritchie said. He is a trustee of Southeast Atomic Energy Associates, a group formed by the 16 companies.

The other 15 companies are Arkansas Missouri Power Co., Central Louisiana Electric Co., Inc., The Empire District Electric Co., Gulf States Utilities Co., Kansas Gas & Electric Co., Kansas Power & Light Co., Louisiana Power & Light Co., Mississippi Power & Light Co., Missouri Public Service Co., Missouri Utilities Co., New Orleans Public Service Inc., Oklahoma Gas & Electric Co., Public Service Co. of Oklahoma, Southwestern Electric Power Co., and Western Light & Telephone Co., Inc.

According to the Ideal Cement Company publication personnel changes include the switching of Al Backus as mill foreman at Tazewell to mill foreman at Okay, and Louis Bell of the Okay plant was switched from personnel supervisor to a foreman.

The Golden Age Club meets Thursday at 10:30 a.m. for a potluck luncheon at the Hope Youth Center. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish.

Kennedy's Wheat Plan Is Smashed

By OVID A. MARTIN

AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wheat growers have sounded a loud "no" to President Kennedy's program for stricter controls on their crops, raising a cloud of confusion over the nation's farmland.

The administration's program, which needed two-thirds of the vote in Tuesday's referendum, failed even to muster a majority, getting only 47.8 per cent of the 1.14 million votes cast.

But farmers who rejected the program of high price supports and tight controls on production in hopes Congress would write new legislation this year got a jolt from the reaction of the administration.

Tuesday's referendum means an alternative program of low price supports for those who voluntarily cut production—but none for those who reject any acreage controls—will govern the 1964 wheat crop.

Administration spokesmen, from Kennedy on down, made it clear they plan to hold the farmers to their choice.

Kennedy said the administration accepts the judgment of the wheat farmers, who "voted for the right to produce whatever they desire in 1964, for whatever the market will pay, rather than for higher prices and limited production."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, who before the vote said defeat of the administration plan would be "chaotic," said flatly today the alternative provided by the referendum "will be in effect for the 1964 wheat crop."

"The point of view which prevailed in the referendum is entitled to a full and fair trial," he said.

And Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he would do all in his power to prevent any further wheat legislation this session.

"Democracy has spoken and the wheat farmers have voted themselves out of a program," Ellender said. "I wish them well."

The administration stand promised to put heavy pressures on Congress. Many Republicans have new programs drafted and plan to grandfather of Justice John Marshall Harlan, who is a member of the present court—disagreed with that majority ruling in 1883. He said, in effect, that railroads, restaurants, and places of amusement are not really private in the sense that a man's home is because they are "charged with duties to the public," are subject to city and state regulations, and therefore are instruments of the state.

The court in those days had little sympathy for the Negro's hopes for full acceptance in the American community.

A few years later (1896) the court majority—again with Harlan disagreeing—went even further and said it was all right for states to segregate Negroes so long as their treatment was equal to that given whites.

This remained the law of the land until 1954 when the modern court, reversing the court of the 19th Century, ruled that separate meant unequal and knocked out segregation in public schools.

Then this week the court ruled on a batch of cases in which a number of Negroes had been arrested, mostly on trespass charges, for sit-in demonstrations at lunch counters where they were refused service along with white people.

A court majority threw out the conviction. The reason: The store managers had been under pressure not to serve them. The pressure, the court said, came from state or city laws or local officials.

Thus the court went back to that 1883 decision which said the 14th Amendment prohibited states from compelling discrimination against Negroes. In short, this meant for the future:

The court was telling states with segregation laws not to arrest Negroes on a trespass charge when, protesting a restaurant manager's refusal to serve them at a white counter, they staged a sit-in.

But the court left unanswered the question raised by old Judge Harlan 80 years ago: Can an enterprise—run to make money off the public, like a restaurant or theater—discriminate against Negroes on its own without state law?

Justice William O. Douglas said pretty much what Justice Harlan said in 1883 although he was just giving his own views which were not the controlling opinion of the court majority.

He said there are few private enterprises, catering to the public, which are not under some state or city control or regulation. This, he said in effect, makes them public and not private and so they must serve all people.

But the present Justice Harlan was not in full agreement with Douglas or the rest of the court majority. At one point he said an "individual's right to restrict use of his property . . . lies beyond reach of the 14th Amendment."

This could be interpreted as meaning that, where there is no compulsion from state or local law, a private enterprise, like a restaurant, has a right to refuse to serve Negroes.

If this is a correct interpretation of his thinking, then he seems to disagree with his grandfather.

The Chinese Exaggerate Progress

EDITOR'S NOTE — The people of Red China often confuse glories promised for tomorrow with the facts of today. The result is an exaggerated claim of industrial progress. Yet, there have been gains. In this third article in a special series, a British author and poet who just took a travel agency tour of Red China tells how the people behind the bamboo curtain feel about what has been accomplished to date.

By RICHARD P. LISTER

PEKING (AP)—They call the Communist revolution in China the Liberation. The date is Oct. 1, 1949 when Mao Tse-Tung declared the founding of the People's Republic. As of that date there was not a single factory capable of making needles and pins. So, at least, the Chinese declare.

Now, they say, a very high proportion of all consumer goods and industrial equipment used in China is home-made.

Whatever view may be taken of the means used by the Chinese to hoist themselves up—the harshness of the system and its ruthlessness toward many individual lives—the achievement seems to be real and impressive. To judge the measure of its success, it is only necessary to compare the present state of China, 14 years after revolution, with that of Russia in 1931.

It is all the more peculiar, then, that the Chinese do not always seem content to let real achievement speak for itself. They are so full of the glories of tomorrow that sometimes they confuse them with the facts of today.

There's a steelworks at Wuhan, the university town on the Yangtze. Begun in 1957, it now employs 40,000. It reminded me of the old fashioned plant where I worked, as a trainee graduate metallurgist in England, in 1937-39.

There is nothing discreditable to the Chinese in this. The Wuhan Iron and Steel Company may be 25 years behind the times but not so long ago industrial China was 2,000 years behind. It did not exist at all.

All the same, the Chinese are not content. The planned output, they told us, is three million tons of steel a year. Very good; when would this target be achieved? This was one question they could not or would not answer. When pressed, they estimated the present output of this particular plant at one and a half million tons. But that didn't matter; what counted was the three million of tomorrow.

There were six open hearth steel furnaces but only Nos. 1 and 5 were working. This was a rather low proportion of the steelmaking capacity. One answer for this soon became apparent. The heavy rolling mill, we were told, will produce rails, girders, plate, sheet and tubes.

They are proud of their rolling mill but it is not yet built. Today the main output is pig iron from the three blast furnaces and cast iron, largely in the form of parts for agricultural machinery.

Still, they do produce steel, bar, rod and strip. And since they started from scratch six years ago, this is a miracle in itself.

Our travelling group encountered this confusion between achievement and future reality all over China. At a children's palace in Shanghai—where middle school children come after hours for the usual cultural and recreational activities with a strong ideological tinge, we asked if they were especially selected.

Of course not, we were told: all children can come. Yet among the hundreds there was not one who did not wear the red neck scarf of the Pioneers, the young Communist society.

There was no conscious deception here. The Chinese really wished to believe that the children's palace was open to all, just as they wished to believe that every Chinese citizen is free to choose his own work and to come and go as he pleases. As with some other peoples, what they tell themselves three times is true.

12th Man to Be Chosen on Nelson Jury

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Selection of the twelfth juror in the first degree murder trial of John Lee Nelson, 21, was scheduled today, after attorneys ran through both a regular and special jury panel today.

Eleven regular jurors had been seated when the panels were exhausted and Pulaski Circuit Judge William J. Kirby ordered all jurors on the two panels, who had been excused from appearing, to be in court today.

He also ordered another special panel drawn up.

Nelson, a Negro, is charged with the fatal shooting of Louis Scott, another Negro, May 24, 1961, at Little Rock. He was arrested that day and has been in jail since then—longer than any prisoner ever held in the Pulaski County jail.

The state Supreme Court refused last week to free Nelson on ground that his constitutional right to a speedy trial had been violated.

The state is seeking the death penalty.

Delays in the trial have been caused by the illness of one co-defendant and the death of another.

THE STORY: Dr. Howdershell reports early at the hospital for surgery.

IX

Still in this state of suspended animation, the nurse was rudely shocked and startled to hear a great burst of noise erupt from the operating room. Frightened and puzzled, she looked wildly about her. She had known that Dr. Howdershell was "up," but she had thought of him as being alone somewhere. She hadn't seen him.

But now here were these scuffling sounds, and a man's voice raised in anger.

"—can't be here!" Protest rang roughly in that voice.

And just as loud, but more steady, "I am here, Doc."

At this second the elevator came up, with Keyes Howdershell in it. The nurse cried something to him, but he went straight into the operating room. Frightened and puzzled, she looked wildly about her. She had known that Dr. Howdershell was "up," but she had thought of him as being alone somewhere. She hadn't seen him.

Callahan Cage Coach at Beebe

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Appointment of Howard Callahan, on Arkansas State basketball star who will be graduated May 31, as basketball coach at Arkansas State's Beebe Branch was announced today.

Callahan formerly played at Beebe, which is a junior college. He succeeds Marvin Speight who moved from Beebe to become basketball coach at Arkansas State.

Mercury Project Is Wound Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. space officials have locked the door against any more Project Mercury space flights—but have left the key handy just in case.

"Only a fool never changes his mind," said Abraham Hyatt, director of planning and program evaluation for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. But, he added, "at this moment, plans are to end the Mercury program as of now."

He and NASA Chief James E. Webb spoke Tuesday at a meeting of Rocket Club. Webb said officials plan to take "a good hard look" at the data from Gordon Cooper's 22-orbit flight before the final decision is made.

Integration at Alabama U. Is Fought

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace, thrusting state sovereignty into the path of federal authority, has set out to block court-ordered desegregation of the University of Alabama.

The youthful Alabama governor laid his constitutional authority on the line Tuesday after the university board of trustees had agreed to admit two Negroes and U.S. Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms refused to delay the June 10 enrollment.

"I embody the sovereignty of this state," declared Wallace, a veteran of battles with the federal government, "and I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who seeks to enroll at the university."

Thus, Wallace embarked upon the same course followed last fall by Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi who barred Negro James H. Meredith from the University of Mississippi. Meredith later enrolled behind federal forces.

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a political foe of Wallace, warned defiance of federal court orders may lead to violence. He said information—this will be the last shot," he said.

The next space project is Gemini—two-man flights.

those who defy such orders may be to blame if federal troops are used in Alabama as they were in Mississippi.

On other fronts:

—The simmering Birmingham racial situation remained quiet as 3,000 federal troops stood by at military bases and more than 1,300 state, county and city law enforcement officers kept watch over a 28-block area where rioting broke out May 12.

—A hearing was scheduled during the day in federal court on a request for reinstatement of more than 1,000 Negro pupils suspended or expelled from Birmingham schools for taking part in antisegregation demonstrations.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—With one industrial park two-thirds full, the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce is seeking a location for another.

Chamber President W. S. Mitchell told a civic club Tuesday that 608 acres of a 1,000-acre privately operated industrial area in south Little Rock had been taken.

One sizeable industry could use all the rest, he said, and leave the city without a ready-made site for industrial development.

Optimists to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—District 34 of Optimist International, which includes all the clubs in Arkansas and Louisiana, will meet Thursday at Little Rock. Some 400 delegates are expected to attend the three-day meeting. Officers will be elected Saturday morning.

WSSC Installs New Officers
Hope District WSSC President Mrs. Herbert Stephens installed new officers for Wesleyan Service Guild 2 at its meeting May 20 in the home of Mrs. Jamie Russell. They are:

President, Mrs. Sam Andrews; vice-president, Mrs. Royce Weisenberger; recording secretary, Mrs. Jamie Russell; treasurer, Mrs. Forrest Hutson; secretary of promotion, Mrs. Bruce Duke; committee chairman, Mrs. James O. Cox, representing all other committee chairmen.

In an impressive ceremony, tapers signifying each office were lighted as the pledge to fulfill the duties of the position were taken. The service was concluded by the Guild Hymn, accompanied at the piano by Miss Sue Russell.

A baby membership in the WSSC-WSG was presented to Mrs. Bruce Duke for her daughter, Lauren Lynn, as an outgrowth of a study held by the guild last fall entitled, "Today's Children for Tomorrow's World."

Orange lilies and blue hydrangeas decorated the home where the meeting was held. Ice cream, strawberries, and cookies were served by the hostess for refreshments. She was assisted by Misses Sue and Janice Russell.

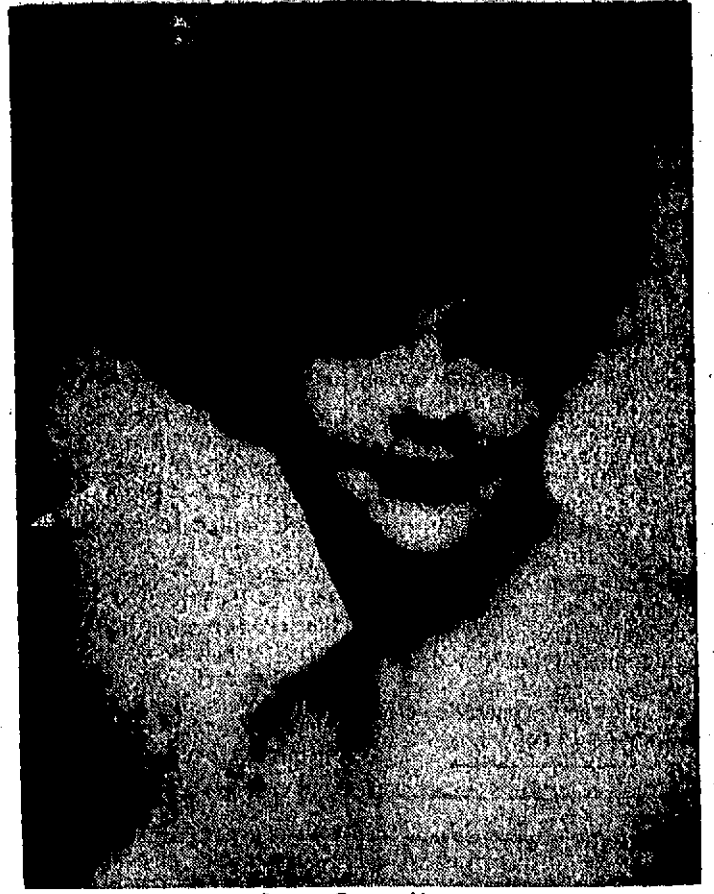

There were 4½ tables of players for the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club games Monday, May 20 at the Hope Country Club. Winners were: first, Mrs. Harry Hawthorne and Mrs. Marie Hendrix; second, Mrs. R. L. Broach and Mrs. Horace Stokes of Little Rock; third, Mrs. Wilma Steed of Pine Bluff and Dr. Lynn Harris.

DOROTHY DIX

-LOVELESS WIFE SEEKS CREATIVE OUTLET
By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I'm a ball of energy and my husband at 37 is just a deflated old tire. Even with five children and a home to run, time hangs heavy on my hands; the children are trained to help me with the work and to look after each other.

We live in a neighborhood where folks don't visit back and forth, but there are no outside activities to interest wives and find some occupation inside the home to absorb your excess energy. A new hobby correspondence course, a TV course, even knitting or sewing would be preferable to twiddling your thumbs. By overcoming your boredom you will undoubtedly overcome your husband's apathy. Interest and enthusiasm are highly contagious. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Turn Your Spare Time into Cash."

Dear Helen: My best girl friend is my age, just 11, but she's 'd me things I shouldn't have heard till I'm 16. She plays strip poker with boys of 15 and 19. Other friends said, "Drop her." I did after Mommy forbade me to see her any more.

Now she has started phoning me. I want to help her but mostly don't. Already she's got me into trouble twice. Should I tell her that Mommy doesn't approve of her? My friends have helped me write this letter. —M.

Dear M.: Mind your mother. You can help your friend the next time she calls by explaining that you'd rather do something with other friends. Preaching to hear, or telling her that your mother doesn't approve of her, won't do her any good. Soon she'll get tired of being excluded from the majority and it certainly won't be too long till the boys outgrow her.

Dear Helen: I'm 19 and was never kissed till last week! I had my first date six months ago. When the boy tried to kiss me goodnight at my door, I wouldn't let him because I didn't know how. He must have sensed this for he said, "So you've never kissed a boy and I've never kissed a girl." I cried. He put his arms around me but I shoved him away.

Next time we dated, which was last week, I kissed him real hard on the mouth. Now I know it was wrong. How should I act if and when we date again? —Fearful

Dear Fearful: It's almost impossible to predetermine how to act with another individual who may already have definite ideas of his own about you. So much depends on the occasion and how you feel about each other. In other words, play it by ear instead of by mouth.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

the enthusiasm of New Yorkers eager for a chance to cheer their hero.

About 2,000 guests have been invited by the city to a luncheon honoring the 36-year-old Air Force major, who blasted off to fame last week with his 22-orbit space flight.

Cooper concluded his eight-minute address to the joint meeting of the Senate and House Tuesday with a prayer he composed on his 17th orbit, spinning high over the Indian Ocean, and recited into a tape recorder.

It was a prayer of thanks for "all these startling and wonderful things that You have created," and a prayer for help "that we may shape our lives to be much better Christians" and "that we may show the world that a democracy really can compete and still is able to do things in a big way."

Cooper's first stop was at the White House, where Kennedy pinned on his lapel the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Then Kennedy noted that Cooper's space voyage came within a few days of being exactly 36 years after Charles A. Lindbergh's historic flight across the Atlantic to Paris.

Some people asked Lindbergh who he wanted to brave the Atlantic in his little plane, the President said, just as now some people ask "Why go to the moon?"

Kennedy said Lindbergh answered: "It is not so much a matter of logic as it is a feeling."

He predicted that the United States will reach the moon in this decade and said the country "is interested in demonstrating a dominance of this new sea (space), making sure that in this new great adventurous period that Americans are playing their great role."

Cooper, a man of few words, was true to form. "I didn't really have much to say," drawled the Oklahoman, "and after all that, all I can say is it certainly is a great honor to be invited here and to be presented this award and to thank you all very much."

Then, joined by Vice President Johnson and Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., chairman of the Senate-House Space Committee, Cooper rode in the White House parade limousine at the head of a motorcade up Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol.

It was one, long, tremendous ovation. Police estimated the crowd at 250,000 despite early morning rain that let up just in time.

Teen-Aged Girl Killed in Crash
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—An automobile skidded out of control on Highway 63 Tuesday night and smashed broadside into a tree, killing one teen-age girl and injuring two others.

State Trooper James Morgan said Anita Douglas, 17, of Siloam Springs, was killed in the accident four miles west of nearby Tontitown. He identified the injured as Ina Burdon, 17, driver of the car, and Freda Kelly, 15, both of Siloam Springs.

The two injured girls were reported in critical condition at a Springdale hospital.

Winner of Texas-Hog Game, Champ

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Bill Van Fleet, sports editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, says the winner of the Arkansas-Texas football game at Little Rock next season will be the Southwest Conference team going to the Cotton Bowl.

Van Fleet told some 150 members of the Fort Smith Quarterback Club Tuesday night that he thought Arkansas and Texas would lose one game each in loop play.

The sports writer said he looks for much more aerial fireworks during the coming season and expects the conference to be much stronger.

He picked three Razorback sophomores as potentially valuable players next season — fullbacks Jim Lindsey of Forrest City and Bobby Nix of Benton and tailback Jackie Braswell of Van Buren. Van Fleet watched five of the eight spring training games in the SWC, including the Arkansas game.

He picked Arkansas end Jerry Lamb as a potential All-America candidate and Don Trull of Baylor as the greatest quarterback in the Southwest Conference.

sonal and political implications. It gave credence to administration critics that farmers want less federal interference rather than more. Freeman had staked his prestige on the contention that farmers were willing to accept more effective controls to halt over-production and stabilize prices.

ture." "The way now is open for the Congress to solve the wheat surplus problem on a basis consistent with the maintenance of the market system," Shuman said.

The administration had thrown its prestige behind its program and suffered a stinging defeat.

Complete returns gave 545,776 votes for the plan and 595,851 against it.

Only in the Southeast did the administration get any heavy support. And this area grows little wheat, but has become accustomed to rigid controls on its cotton, tobacco and peanut crops.

The national vote turnout among the farmer's was lower than expected, but the total of more than 1.13 million was more than double the number voting in any previous wheat referendum.

The plan would have required farmers to reduce 1964 crop plantings 10 per cent from this year. It would have supported 80 per cent of the normal production on allotted acres at $2 a bushel and the remainder at $1.30. Farmers would have gotten payments totaling around $300 million for idled wheat land.

The effect of the referendum is to eliminate all wheat acreage and marketing controls and to reduce price supports—now at $2—to about $1.25. But supports would be limited to growers making the 10 per cent reduction in plantings.

But there was the possibility Congress would enact a new program more satisfactory to farmers.

The defeat carried many per-

Dairy Pricing Practice Illegal

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office ruled today that merchants cannot offer fresh dairy products for sale under a discount coupon arrangement.

Such practice is outlawed under a 1963 law governing certain pricing practices in the dairy industry, the opinion said. The attorney general's office held recently that the act is legal.

Today's opinion went to Rep. Jesse C. Hayes of Randolph County. Hayes also asked if a grocer could sell three half gallons of milk for 89 cents plus a regular purchase of groceries, in effect limiting quantity at the discount price.

The attorney general's office said they could not.

The tenth-grade Home Economic Class of the Yerger High School is now studying in their Home Improvement Unit. Various accomplishments have been made in completing this unit.

On May 17, the class toured the community, observing the outward appearance of homes passed. The class stopped at the homes of Mrs. Louise Yerger, Mrs. Georgia McFadden, Mrs. Helen Davis and Mrs. Louise Hicks.

The inside appearance of these homes were observed. Each was artistically decorated and beautifully designed.

At the home of Mrs. Louise Hicks, refreshments were served by the hostess, Miss Jacquelyn Hicks, who is a member of the 10th grade class.

The girls enjoyed their tour very much and are looking forward to visiting more of the homes in the future.

Georgea Graves, a senior at Yerger High School, along with her advisor, Mrs. Estelle Spearman, are recipients of an all expense paid trip to the National N.H.A. Convention which is to be held at Daytona Beach, Florida, June 8 through 15th.

The Arkansas Delegates attending this meeting are composed of eighteen N.H.A. gives and six advisors.

Before returning to the state the group will have the pleasure of spending two nights on Tuskegee Institute Campus, Tuskegee, Alabama.

The Yerger Shower P.T.A. held its regular meeting May 20, 1963 with the president presiding. After devotion, H. M. Smith read the P.T.A. Objectives. Remarks by the president consisted of comments on some of the outstanding accomplishments of the 62-63 P.T.A. year.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Emma Edwards; Mrs. Louise Hicks made the treasurer's report. The evaluation of the 62-63 P.T.A. year was given by Mrs. G. Williamson. The Nominating Committee chair-lady, Mrs. Louise Yerger submitted the following persons for 1963-64 officers:

President: C. C. Carmichael; 1st Vice, Deltan Collins; 2nd Vice, Mose Yerger; Secretary, Mrs. Emma Edwards; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. Alvia Wyatt; Treasurer, Mrs. Louise Hicks; Parliamentarian, H. B. State Urban Renewal Hits Arguments

By LEN TALIAFERRO
Associated Press Staff Writer

Perhaps the most controversial issue ever to hit many Arkansas communities is urban renewal.

Urban renewal is a program by which the federal government provides funds for the clearance of substandard housing and the property is then offered for sale on the open market for redevelopment by private enterprise.

Controversy has arisen in several communities over federal support of what opponents call a means by which the government may force an occupant out of his home and sell the property to someone else.

Proponents say the program provides a fair means for the occupant to be substantially reimbursed for the property with assistance provided in helping the occupant find a new home elsewhere in the community.

Little Rock has provided the state with leadership in urban renewal. Its program has been under way since the late 1950s and is still going strong.

Little Rock's program is headed by Dowell Naylor Jr., executive director of the Little Rock Housing Authority. Naylor admits the program has its shortcomings but feels the good it does far outweighs whatever bad it produces.

"The program reclaims for the city, old, worn-out neighborhoods, providing a new tax base and producing eventually $5 for every $1 spent on the program by the federal government," says Naylor.

"It absorbs much of the cost of acquisition and demolition of substandard property," he continues.

While the agency is not a "building agency," it will provide streets and playground areas in a cleared neighborhood. It also provides an economical means of obtaining for cities the rights-of-way for streets, freeways and other civic projects.

One of the chief arguments against the program is the forcing of people from their homes, paying them a market price, which is often below the price for which they can obtain equivalent housing elsewhere.

For situations such as these the agency has a full-time relocation crew to assist displace home owners. Naylor admits that sometimes it is impossible to find homes for the same price paid for the one to be demolished.

In this case he says it is possible for the home owner to get a long term FHA-approved loan which will make up the difference.

One of the state's leading opponents of the program is Arthur L. Mills, a Little Rock insurance man. Mills has traveled over much of the state at his own expense, speaking against urban renewal.

"You might call me a personal crusader for freedom," says Mills. He admits that there may be some good aspects of the program but feels the evil outweighs the good.

"They have completely eliminated the human factor in this program," says Mills.

Mills thinks that the program also could be worked out without use of federal funds. He says that Charlotte, N.C., has done this and has accomplished the same thing as urban renewal without an unnecessary expenditure of the tax payers money.

Naylor is well aware of Mills' fight against the program and respects him for it. "Mills is sincerely and philosophically against the program and is using his own time and money to fight it," Naylor said. "You certainly have to respect a person like that."

Naylor said that he knows of no statewide organization fighting

Goes to Trial on Murder Charge

Court officials estimated selection of a jury would occupy the court through today.

Says Newport Voted for City Manager

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed today Jackson Circuit Court's ruling that Newport voters approved the city manager form of government in an election Aug. 21, 1962.

The court based its opinion on the fact that there was no election fraud and said voters should not be disfranchised because election officials made numerous errors in handling the votes.

City officials appealed to the Supreme Court in the name of Newport, which has a mayor-council form of government. The high court's decision was unanimous.

The circuit court ruled that 849 legal votes were cast for the plan and 834 against it. The case was taken to the circuit court by pro-manager forces after the original ballot count showed 888 votes against and 866 for.

Justice Ed McFaddin in the majority opinion said the absentee box, the key in the appeal, presented the most flagrant violations of election laws of which honest election officials could have been guilty. He said it "gives us most serious concern; but we emphasize that there is not the slightest allegation or suspicion of fraud."

The city of Newport contended that the integrity of the box was destroyed because one of the election officials tore up some of the ballots, the box was never delivered in the proper official at the courthouse, and the box and the ballots cannot be found.

When the box was opened, McFaddin said, a list of voters and their votes was compiled in the county clerk's office. The list was introduced in the case as evidence.

The absentee box went 67-21 for the city-manager plan. The circuit court threw out seven votes, but affirmed the box on the basis of the list.

McFaddin wrote that secrecy of the ballot was destroyed and numerous other sections of the election law were violated, but since there was no allegation of fraud, urban renewal but organized opposition has developed in several communities.

In Fort Smith, the opposition is credited with defeating a $2,600,000 project which had been approved by the Fort Smith City Commission. Opponents of the project, the Fort Smith Good Government League, forced the issue to a popular vote by obtaining petitions with thousands of signatures.

Another group, Fort Smith Citizens for Progress, backed the issue and on first count of the votes it appeared that urban renewal had been approved by the people.

However, a recount showed that the project was defeated by a mere two votes.

Naylor says he feels that the defeat of the project was a result of overconfidence on the part of proponents. "They thought they had the election and they didn't get their people out to vote," he concluded.

Whatever the view, urban renewal is up to the residents of the individual communities and they will decide the issue by the ballot.

New Method for Gas Allowables

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court upheld today a Federal Power Commission plan to use a new area price method for determining allowable producer prices for natural gas.

Under the plan, FPC would set a guide price for all gas produced in a particular field. Adjustments would be made if evidence showed the price was unfair to consumers or to producers.

Justice Harlan delivered the 5-4 decision. Justice Clark dissented with an opinion in which Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black and Brennan joined.

Under the old method, FPC studied each application to see if the price proposed would give the individual producer a fair rate of return on his investment. This unit-by-unit method resulted in a big backlog of undecided rate cases.

Commission adoption of the new area price method was announced in a case affecting Phillips Petroleum Co., of Bartlesville, Okla., major seller of natural gas.

The new method was approved by the U.S. Court of Appeals here in an opinion stating there was nothing in the Natural Gas Act to prohibit a trail of the plan. The Court of Appeals decision was appealed to the high tribunal by Wisconsin, California and New York public utilities commissions.

The Supreme Court said the voter list was authentic and it was allowed to stand.

"We have a number of cases which hold that a voter is not to be disfranchised because of the failure of election officials to obey all election laws," McFaddin wrote.

The Supreme Court said the trial court was right in throwing out the votes of certain convicted felons. It affirmed the circuit court's ruling that no votes should be thrown out of box 1-A simply because the election officials wrongly endorsed the number of the voters on the back of the ballots instead of on the detachable stubs.

The court upheld box 1-B despite the fact that it was found to be empty when opened. The votes were found in an envelope in Box 1-A when it was opened and the Supreme Court said the integrity of the ballots was not destroyed.

Maloney of Reds No Joke to Batters

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Maloney signed with Cincinnati on April Fool's Day, but he's no joke to National League batters.

The 22-year-old right-hander, who admits "I babied my arm too much" in his early days with the Reds, tied the modern major league record of eight consecutive strikeouts and fanned a total of 16 in a 2-0 victory over Milwaukee Tuesday night.

The Dodgers got a five-hit pitching performance from Johnny Podres, defeated the New York Mets for their seventh straight victory 4-2 and remained one game behind league-leading San Francisco. The Giants beat Philadelphia 3-2 as Billy O'Dell won his sixth without a loss.

St. Louis edged Chicago's Cubs 5-4 and Pittsburgh nipped Houston 6-5 in other games.

In the American League, Baltimore downed Detroit 4-2, the Chicago White Sox edged Washington 4-3, the New York Yankees belted Kansas City 7-4 and Minnesota thumped Boston 8-2. The Los Angeles-Cleveland game was rained out.

Maloney allowed only two hits in the 8 1/3 innings he worked. He started his string of eight straight strikeouts with Eddie Mathews in the first inning and kept whiffing Braves until Hank Aaron grounded out in the fourth inning. He had fanned 15 in the first seven innings, and had a good chance to tie or surpass the single game record of 18 held by Bob Feller and Koufax. He managed only one the rest of the way, however. Shutout by Galen Cisco for five innings and trailing 2-0, the Dodgers spit it out of reach with three runs in the sixth inning on a two-run double by Willie Davis and a single by Dick Tracewski knocked in what turned out to be the deciding run. Ron Fairly chipped in with two doubles and a single in support of Podres, now 3-3.

The Giants scored all their runs on homers by Jose Pagan's shot in the eighth inning snapping a 2-2 tie. Ed Bailey and Orlando Cepeda also connected for solo shots off Ray Culp, who went the distance for the Phillies and matched five-hitters with O'Dell. The Phillies had tied the game in the top of the eighth on Don Demeter's run-scoring single.

Bill White drove in three runs for the Cardinals with a two-run homer and a single in the seventh inning that brought home what proved to be the decisive run in a two-run rally started by winning pitcher Curt Simmons, now 6-1. Curt Flood singled across the tie-breaker and eventually scored the clincher on White's hit. Larry Jackson, a former Card, took the loss.

Jim Pagliarini hit a three-run homer off Jim Uhlrich, Colts reliever making his third appearance since recovering from cancer surgery, and put the Pirates ahead to stay 5-4 in the sixth inning. Bill Virdon's infield single in the ninth, however, drove in the deciding run.

being recalled from an Antonio early this season.

Cardwell was almost as tough, allowing the Colts only six hits, but Bob Aspromonte's single and Johnny Temple's triple broke the spell in the fifth inning.

Drott's performance was a lift to the Colt pitching staff and moved Houston to within a half game of the eighth-place Phillies.

The Pirates threatened twice, most seriously in the first inning when Dick Schofield led off with a double and went to third on Bill Virdon's infield out. Drott fanned

Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski to end the threat.

Homer by Pagan Keeps Giants' Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"I'm no home run hitter," grinned Jose Pagan Tuesday night after a four-base shot that beat the Philadelphia Phils 3-2 and kept San Francisco in the National League lead.

Until his eighth-inning blast broke a 2-2 tie, the Giants shortstop could just as well have left "home run" out of the statement.

For Jose had gone 9-for-20, hitless since May 14, until he won for Billy O'Dell victory No. 6 of the year.

"I wasn't thinking of home run when I go up there," said the little Puerto Rican. "I just wanted to swing my bat."

"I got my best shot. It was an inside curve letter high. But home run hitter? Once every two months for me."

It was Pagan's second round-tripper of the season. Combined with solo homers by Ed Bailey and Orlando Cepeda, it ruined an otherwise fine pitching performance by losing bonus rookie Ray Culp, 4-3.

Wolf to Give Push to the Detroit Club

By JERRY GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons lured Charley Wolf away from the Cincinnati Royals because of his reputation as an aggressive, take-charge basketball coach.

"He's a take-charge guy and that's just what we've needed," said Fred Zollner, millionaire industrialist Pistons owner, after signing Wolf Tuesday for the next two National Basketball Association seasons.

Wolf quit Cincinnati's NBA club with one year remaining on his contract. He coached the Royals three seasons. Wolf will receive a nestimated $14,000 annually as the mild-mannered Dick McGuire's successor in Detroit.

McGuire resigned from the Pistons last month, saying he was tired of being second guessed. He was the Pistons' coach 3 1/2 seasons.

Zollner indicted Wolf would have a freer hand in running the Pistons than the previous three coaches in the six years since the club was moved here from Fort Wayne, Ind.

"We'll give him a new coach a delegation of authority we wanted to before but were unable to do," said Zollner. "We'll leave everything in his hands except player trades when I expect he'll confer with me."

Pappas May Be Playing Best Year
By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Milt Pappas, a veteran of six years in the major leagues at the age of 24, may be headed for his best season.

"Big things have been predicted for the Baltimore Orioles' right-hander almost since he was signed fresh out of a Detroit high school in 1957.

And, although he has never had a losing season, Pappas seemingly has never quite reached his potential. Injuries have slowed him at times. So have his sometimes foolish attempts to literally blow pitches past the batters.

"Brashness is part of the Pappas makeup. Paul Richards, when he was manager of the Orioles, went to Detroit to sign the young athlete. "I told Pappas why he should sign with the Orioles," Richards used to recall in relating the trip. "I paused to take a breath and Milt said, 'You don't have to give me all that stuff Mr. Richards. I'm going to sign with your club.'"

After just 11 innings in the minors, Pappas compiled a 65-49 record through the 1962 season. He has won between 10 and 15 games for five consecutive years.

Monday night, he blanked the Detroit Tigers 6-0 on five hits for his fourth straight victory of the season and lowered his earned run average to 1.17. He has completed four of six starts, two of them since being sidelined more than two weeks because of severe spike wounds of the right ankle.

All of his victories have been complete games. Two were shutouts, and two were one-run games in which he gave up solo home runs.

Weather Is Help to U.S. Golf Team

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—The weather, which has ranged from foul to good, may have been a help in the preparations of the United States' Walker Cup team for its weekend golf matches with England.

Two U.S. teams, led by reigning U.S. amateur champ Labron Harris of Stillwater, Okla., and Richard Davies of Pasadena, Calif., last year's British amateur champ, shot 73s Tuesday in the first sunny weather in four days.

"It's really good to see this sunshine," non-playing captain Richard Tufts said. "It's been raining and blowing almost without ceasing. But we're pleased with the way the weather has turned out, because it's given us a chance to play this course under varying conditions."

The Walker Cup matches are scheduled over the 7,025-yard Turnberry course Friday and Saturday.

Crackers Hit Travelers to Tighten Lead
ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Crackers blanked Arkansas for seven innings Tuesday night and clinched a tighter hold on first place in the International League southern division.

Johnny Hucks was the pitcher who nearly shut out the Travelers. He rapped two singles to bat in a pair of runs.

Atlanta outfielder Doug Clemens on his way out of a baling slump, slammed a home run and a double. All the Atlanta players hit safely and only Joe Morgan and Johnny Lewis failed to bat in a run.

Harry Oliver was starter for the Travelers and took the loss for a 3-3 record.

The Travelers meet Atlanta again tonight in the second of three scheduled games. The Arkansas team is in third place in the southern division, three games back. Indianapolis is second.

Platooning Is O.K. When It Works

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Walter Alston, accused by some of platooning the Los Angeles Dodgers right out of the World Series a couple of seasons back, apparently just can't kick the habit.

The Dodger manager has probably used more different line-ups in the past two weeks than the Los Angeles police department. But his critics have been uncommonly quiet.

Some profess to see a connection between their silence and the fact that the Dodgers have won seven games in a row, 10 of their last 11 and 12 of the last 14.

"You never hear anything about the times the platooning works," Alston said Tuesday night after the Dodgers beat the New York Mets 4-2. "But the first time it doesn't work, everybody starts talking about 'that lousy platoon system.'"

On the present home stand, Alston has used Jim Gilliam at second base and third base, Ron Fairly at first base and in center field, Tom Davis at third and in left field and Wally Moon in left field and right field. He also has shifted Maury Wills, the National League's All-Star shortstop last season, to third base.

Dick Tracewski is the new shortstop. Nate Oliver is at second when Gilliam isn't. Bill Skowron is at first when Fairly is in center and Lee Walls occasionally turns up in the outfield.

Alston said he'll leave Wills at third and Tracewski at short "as long as we're winning."

Oklahoma State Eyed by Broyles
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — University of Arkansas football coach Frank Broyles said Tuesday his scouts looked at Oklahoma State—the first team the Razorbacks meet this year—and saw "a young Alabama team."

Broyles also told Little Rock members of the Razorback Club "N makes a little bit of difference that Missouri replaces Hardin Simmons."

The coach concentrated his talk on changes in football rulings, the shape of his squad and talents of individual players.

He said the Forkers will be in trouble if Billy Gray, Stan Sparks, Ken Hatfield, Jim Williams and

Baltimore and Yanks Pace League

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's bound to be a bonanza season in the American League for Baltimore and New York—as long as the Orioles keep cashing in against left-handed pitchers and the Yankees keep getting rich against their Kansas City cousins.

The Orioles trimmed the Detroit Tigers 4-2 Tuesday night, with lefty Mickey Lolich the pitching victim in his first big league start. They've compiled an amazing 11-1 record against left-handers so far this year and 13 straight southpaws have failed to finish against them.

Mickey Mantle drove across five runs with a pair of well-tagged homers, powering the Yanks over Kansas City 7-4. That made the bombers 3-for-3 against the A's, a club they have man-handled outrageously since it moved west from Philadelphia eight years ago.

The Orioles' victory was their seventh in the last eight games and kept them tied for the league lead with the Chicago White Sox, who outlasted the Washington Senators 4-3.

In the night's other AL game, Minnesota's surging Twins poured across seven runs in the third inning and whacked Boston 8-2. The Red Sox and the A's dropped two games behind the league's co-leaders and a game behind the Yanks, who have also won seven of their last eight. The Los Angeles Angels-Indians match at Cleveland was rained out.

In the National League—right-hander Jim Maloney equaled the modern major league record of eight consecutive strikeouts in Cincinnati's 2-0 shutout of Milwaukee, and Francisco edged Philadelphia 3-2, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the New York Mets 4-2, Pittsburgh nipped Houston 5-4 and St. Louis trimmed the Chicago Cubs 5-4.

The White Sox built up a 4-0 lead at Washington with the help of a three-run sixth inning, but barely outlasted the Senators.

Held to four hits and one run through eight innings, the Senators made it a squeaker against reliever Hoyt Wilhelm when Don Lock homered with one on in the ninth and Ken Retzer singled—all with none out. But the knuckleballer turned away the next three men, saving the victory for John Buzhardt, now 4-1.

The Twins collected their seven runs in the third against Red Sox rookie star Dave Morehead and reliever Jack Lamabe on Vic Power's triple, a double by Bob Allison, four singles, two walks and a wild pitch. It paved victory way for Minnesota's fifth victory in the last six games and made it a breeze for right-hander Jim Perry. He evened his record at 2-2 with an eight-inning.

Earl Battey socked a homer for the Twins, while back-to-back homers by Lu Clinton and Dick Stuart in the fourth accounted for the Boston runs.

George Rea Walker, all on the injury list, "aren't recovered enough to play top-notch football for us this fall."
